

Matt Badders primarily represents and advises fiduciaries and corporate management. A San Antonio native, he earned his law degree from The University of Texas in Austin and Bachelor's degree in philosophy from Trinity University. In conjunction with his law practice, Badders personally serves as a fiduciary for his family and numerous court appointments, and is responsible for assets ranging from real estate, mineral interests, closely-held corporations, and notes. He was previously a Senior Vice President and Trust Officer at Frost Bank before his passion for trusts, estates, business, real estate, and advocacy drew him back to the private practice of law. He is currently managing partner of San Antonio's oldest law firm, Drought, Drought & Bobbitt LLP. Established in 1881, some of the firm's original clients, consisting of banks and investment companies, remain clients of the firm to this day.
